MATH 461: Advanced Calculus Free Elective to 120 Hours

- * Students may also take ECON 205: Principles of Economics (5), which satisfies both ECON 200 and ECON 201 requirements, and can be taken either semester. Additionally, any one of these courses fulfills the Social Perspective.
-  MATH 263: Analytical Geometry and Calculus II is a prerequisite for STAT 290 and must be taken before STAT 290. Well-prepared students should consider taking STAT 290 instead of STAT 190.
-  Social Perspective credit hours, including the Missouri Statute course must sum to at least 9 credit hours.
- * An important part of a competitive graduate school application is a research paper. Taking ECON 479, as well as developing working relationship with faculty members is necessary for a good letter of recommendation. ECON 554 should be taken for at least 3 credits so as to meet the 12-credit upper-division elective requirement.

 This course can be an economics course that satisfies the Intercultural Perspective requirement. If not, another Intercultural Perspectives course must be taken elsewhere.

A total of 120 hours are required for graduation; 40 of these must be 300 level or above courses.

Truman requires at least 3 writing enhanced courses (ECON 210, JINS 3XX, and ECON 479 allow you to fulfill this requirement).

Please note that a 2.25 cumulative and a 2.25 major GPA is required to graduate. Additionally, grades of "C" or better are required in each major requirement class.

A student cannot take more than 17 credits in any semester without special permission and paying additional tuition.

The Dialogues Curriculum requires a certain number of courses/credit hours in the following Perspectives: Social, Arts and Humanities, STEM, Communications, and Statistics. The exact number of courses a student will be required to take during their undergraduate career varies individually according to the credit transferred in.
