New Courses:

SA AFR 308 Conservation and Game Management for African Mammals (2-3 hours)

This is a two-week course aimed at individuals passionate about wildlife and who wish to become a part of conservation in action. Wildlife management has become an accepted and necessary part of wildlife conservation. Successful management includes monitoring and moving animals to reestablish the checks and balances of nature. This type of work requires specialized training and experiences, which the students will receive through this wildlife capture course. The course involves preparatory seminars at Truman State University and culminates in a nine-day, hands-on course taught by a team of veterinarians and game management specialists of Parawild Safari, operating in the Northern and Mpumalanga Provinces of South Africa. Prerequisites: BIOL 107 and BIOL 108 or equivalent. NOTE: This course fulfills the Intercultural Interconnecting Perspective of the Liberal Studies Program.

SA FRA 336 Study Abroad in France (6 hours)

A five-week program offering language and culture instruction taught by a Truman faculty member and the faculty of IFALPES in Chambéry/Annecy, France. Students take courses at IFALPES, live with French families and take weekend excursions. There is a trip to Paris at the end of the program. French is the language of instruction. Prerequisite: FREN 120. NOTE: This course fulfills the Intercultural Interconnecting Perspective requirement of the Liberal Studies Program. This course, in conjunction with FREN 120, fulfills the Foreign Language Interconnecting Perspective requirement of the Liberal Studies Program.
